Galien, Mich,

Gentlemen: I bought three bottles of your medicine from my druggist The medicine rendered me very good service, but I am sorry to say that the druggists here are all sold out of your medicine. I should have bought six bottles instead of three. I will gladly take six bottles of the Nervine and Blood Tonic, and request that you write me, if you are able to read this, for I am rather old to write. I have suffered six years from NERVOUS TROUBLE, caused by a fall, and my whole body remained in a tremble, but no pain Every doctor I consulted failed to help me, and I was compelled to give up all housework. Then I read your advertisement and bought your medicine, and almost immediately after commencing its use I was a new woman I hope you will write me at once, and tell me how much money I must send, as I am anxious to get to using your medicine again soon. With most hearty regards, I remain,

Do You Want an Investment in a Real Gold Mine?

Munhall Tonopah is not a get-rich-quick proposition that may pan out if you live long enough.

It is a producing gold mine, consisting of five claims, or 100 acres in the richest gold mining district of Tonopah, Nevada.

Most of the stock is owned by United States Steel Corporation men, including C. M. Schwab, former President of the Steel Corporation.

These men have faith in Munhall-Tonopah. They have put their own money in it They never have been identified with a failure They generally know a proposition before they invest

They investigated this one and are convinced that it is good

They found that shaft 258 feet deep had been sunk a double compartment, finely timbered shaft, and that in this, three well defined ledges had been cut—that the ore taken from these ledges assayed from $10 to $42 a ton

They organized the company with a capital of $1,000,000 00 divided into 1,000,000 shares, par value $1 each.

They have ordered an up-to date steam hoist and complete plant for getting out the ore—a plant capable of sinking shafts to a depth of 1800 feet The plant and outfit will be on the ground May 1

Everything will be in readiness for operation in a very short time.

More money is now needed to continue the operations, and a very LIMITED AMOUNT of stock is offered at 25c THE SHARE When this stock is sold no more will be offered. Ore is now being taken out and there is practically no doubt that when shipments begin, the mine will be one of the best payers in Tonopah It OUGHT to be every bit as valuable as Tonopah Extension.

Experts have found that the veins tapped now are continuations of the veins of the celebrated Mizpah Mines, the ores of which assay from $16 to $265 a ton

We invite close investigation The men who have put their money in this mine expect to make a great deal of money out of it They are not making extravagant promises, or guaranteeing big dividends. The prospect looks mighty good If you want to take a chance with them the opportunity is yours—But you'll have to speak quickly—There's mighty little stock still to be sold

UNCLE ABRAHAM'S LEGACY

By A. A. Patrick

Copyright, 1906, by P. C. Eastment

Although in past years Silas Bragg and his family had been the sole recipients of many benefactions from Uncle Abraham, as the burden of old age began to heap itself upon him and his earning powers became proportionately less and less the aforesaid family began to ponder over the problem of getting rid of the decrepit old gentleman against the time when his feebleness should make him absolutely dependent.

Uncle Abe, as he was called, had served as a Confederate soldier in the civil war. When Lee surrendered at Appomattox he, with thousands of other soldiers, trudged back to the places they had left four years previously, but time and war had wrought amazing changes everywhere. The few blood relations that Uncle Abe possessed were all gone. Some had died in battle, and those who remained had moved to other parts. After looking about the village he finally made arrangements for board and lodging at the Bragg homestead and, with a small square box, the only thing he carried, domiciled himself at that place.

During the first years Uncle Abe found his environments to be congenial, and his sojourn, as already stated, proved to be exceedingly profitable to Silas Bragg, who, having won the confidence and gratitude of the ex soldier, came into possession of property of considerable value.

Consequently it was a great shock to Uncle Abe when he learned that it was the purpose of the Braggs to cast him out now that they held the title to all his property. It had been his desire to live out his days at this place. He had received intimations of their designs through the increasing irritableness of Mrs. Bragg and the unkindness of other members of the household. For days and weeks afterward he moped about the little village in a weary and dejected manner. The people would gaze after him when he passed and remark that Uncle Abe was going down mighty fast.

This state of affairs continued for nearly a month, then it was noticed that the veteran seemed to have taken a new hold on life. He moved about with an agility that belied his years; he laughed and joked with a zest that was surprising, and, above all, there lurked in his eyes a mischievous twinkle and glitter that the loungers at the village store had never taken note of before. However much the wonder was, no solution was ever reached by them.

The real cause of this gayety on the part of Uncle Abe lay in the fact that certain things had been happening at the Braggs'. Only a few evenings before, Mr. Silas Bragg, on arriving home in a rather tottery state, strongly admonished Mrs. Bragg because she apparently had not acted according to his instructions.

"Where's old gray coat?" he queried. "Is he gone yet? No? Didn't I say bounce him. What d'ye mean? Goin' to keep him here to eat a feller out o' house and home? Didn't I tell ye to make it hot for 'im? I'm a honest man, I am, an' I don't want to be hard on nobody, but he's done eat up the wuth of everything I got out o' him an' I ain't goin' to have 'im no longer. Now, ye get rid of 'im; pester the life out o' him; spill hot coffee on 'im. D'ye hear me? I say, get rid of 'im."

Having delivered himself of these weighty remarks, Mr. Bragg settled comfortably down in a chair and dozed off into a deep slumber.

On the following morning Uncle Abe did not appear at the breakfast table as he was usually wont to do. Mr. Bragg, having eaten his breakfast, again commanded Mrs. Bragg to "make it hot for 'im," and departed. An hour passed. Still Uncle Abe did not appear.

"I'll show 'im," piped the matron in a shrill voice. "I'll learn 'im to lie abed. Martha Ann, go get that syringe an' a pan o' cold water, an' give it to 'im through the keyhole." Before this order could be executed, however, a thought of such a pleasing nature entered the mind of Mrs Bragg that it almost made her gasp for breath.

"Maybe the old codger's dead," she ejaculated. "Run, Nancy, an' see," she called out.

Nancy, as commanded, took up a position in front of Uncle Abe's room, peering cautiously through the keyhole. What she saw made her fall over backward and scramble by the hall toward the kitchen. At sight of such action on the part of Nancy, Mrs. Bragg could hardly restrain herself from shouting. She felt certain that Uncle Abe had left this earthly sphere for other parts. This opinion was soon dispelled, for when the girl had reached the kitchen and had sufficiently recovered to make explanations she told of what she had seen in something after the following manner:

"Oh, ma! Oh, ma! He had his box open on the bed, an' it's jest plum full o' greenbacker bills!"

In a little time after this occurrence Uncle Abe came out of his room. Mrs. Bragg, considering the new light on the situation, made haste to prepare a warm and tasteful meal for him. He seemed to be in excellent spirits. He ate heartily of the meal, and then pushed back his chair and made the following astounding remarks:

"Mrs Bragg," he said, "I have just been doing a little thinking. I am getting old. At the best I can't live many years, and I don't want to be moving about. Now, I'll tell you what I am going to do. I'm going to stay with you and Silas what few days I have left. When I'm gone there's a little square box in my room which you can have. I'm not going to tell you what's in it, but I'll say this: I think that what's in the box ought to be worth a good many thousand."

"Uncle Abe," broke in Mrs. Bragg, "you are the kindest and best man in the world. Why, you have a home here as long as you live. Whatever we have you shall share it with us. You are near and dear to us, Uncle Abe, and we don't think nothin' about whether we'll get anything or not. Why, only this morning Silas was speaking to me, sayin' we must tell you this. Yes, indeed, Uncle Abe, you needn't worry about a home."

That evening when Mr. Bragg returned he looked at his wife sternly.

"Well, has old"— He didn't finish.

"Sh-h-h!" interrupted Mrs. Bragg, holding up a warning hand. Then she went over and whispered in his ear.

Mr. Bragg apparently comprehended, for in a few minutes he called out:

"Nancy, go an' see if Uncle Abe needs a fire in his room. D'ye hear me? I say, go an' see if Uncle Abe needs a fire, an' if he does build it. Martha Ann, go ask Uncle Abe what he'd like to have for supper."

After the second girl had been dispatched on an errand to Uncle Abe's room Mr. Bragg turned to his wife and said in a low tone:

"What ye want to do is to treat 'im right. Let 'im have his way 'bout anything. Give 'im everything that's good to eat—pie an' such truck as that. Don't want 'im goin' off from here waggin' that box. Whew! How much d'ye reckon's in it?"

Thus the old soldier entered upon an era of unbroken peace and quiet and good living. His every whim was humored. He was petted and waited on continually. There was no length to which the Braggs would not go to put Uncle Abe at ease. They even furnished him with small sums of money. He told them that he had some money, but did not wish to break a bill. Seeing that they would get all his bills in time to come they were not reluctant to humor him in this, as also they did in many other things. Indeed if anything were refused Uncle Abe he would begin to make preparations which, the startled Bragg family thought, were signs that he meant to remove himself and the square box to some other place. This would never do, of course, and after a sound rating from Silas they would again be whipped into the line of obedience and homage to the ex-soldier.

In the course of time, as was natural, Uncle Abe died, and Mr. Bragg, in a last splendid burst of generosity, gave him a fitting burial. When the sad rites were over Mr. Bragg hastened to return home.

Followed by Mrs. Bragg and Nancy Bragg and Martha Ann Bragg, he unlocked a certain room, unlocked a certain trunk and unlocked a certain box, and—a cry of joy died half uttered in his throat. He got upon his feet and kicked the cat and dog into the yard, then cursed till the very walls of the building trembled. Neighbors heard the shrill voice of Mrs. Bragg and the deep curses of Silas and wondered what the trouble could be.

The box was full of Confederate bills. On top of them lay a little note, which read:

"I think—I always did think—this money ought to be worth a good many thousand dollars, but it is not."

Letters From the Insane.

Among the many "crank" letters that drift from time to time into the offices of most large corporations, especially into publishing houses, are a number bearing a typewritten postscript as follows:

> The law obliges us to send the inclosed letter, but we add this to let you know that the writer is an inmate of the —— asylum and that any attention paid to it will be at your risk.

Sometimes the "crank" epistles are mere business formulas requesting a year's subscription to the magazine and promising to pay when the first copy arrives, but others contain urgent, voluble appeals for all sorts of destructibles, of which the mildest are revolvers and cartridges. The momentary whims represented by the letters are almost limitless in their variety. The chirography of such notes is interesting from a pathological standpoint, as usually, however regularly formed, it is shaky and disjointed or broken, betraying physical and mental breakdown.—New York Press.

A Hole In a Stone.

When primitive man pierced a hole through a stone for decorative purposes mainly the resultant was due to a great deal of trouble and expenditure of time. When he came across a stone with a hole in it he thought the perforation was due to some miraculous power, and accordingly he endowed the stone with supernatural attributes. Man's belief in the marvelous ought to diminish in exact proportion to his information. A stone may be formed of the same silex, only one portion is crystalline, the other amorphous. While the crystalline part resists abrasion and solution the amorphous does not. If the amorphous part lie in the center of a stone which is in the water it wastes away, and so a hole is the result.

Neighborly.

A merry party being gathered in a city flat made such a racket that the occupant of a neighboring house sent his servant over with a polite message asking if it would be possible for the party to make less noise, since, as the servant announced, "Mr. Smith says that he cannot read." "I am sorry for Mr. Smith," replied the host. "Please present my compliments to your master, say that I am sorry he cannot read and tell him I could when I was four years old."—London Judy.

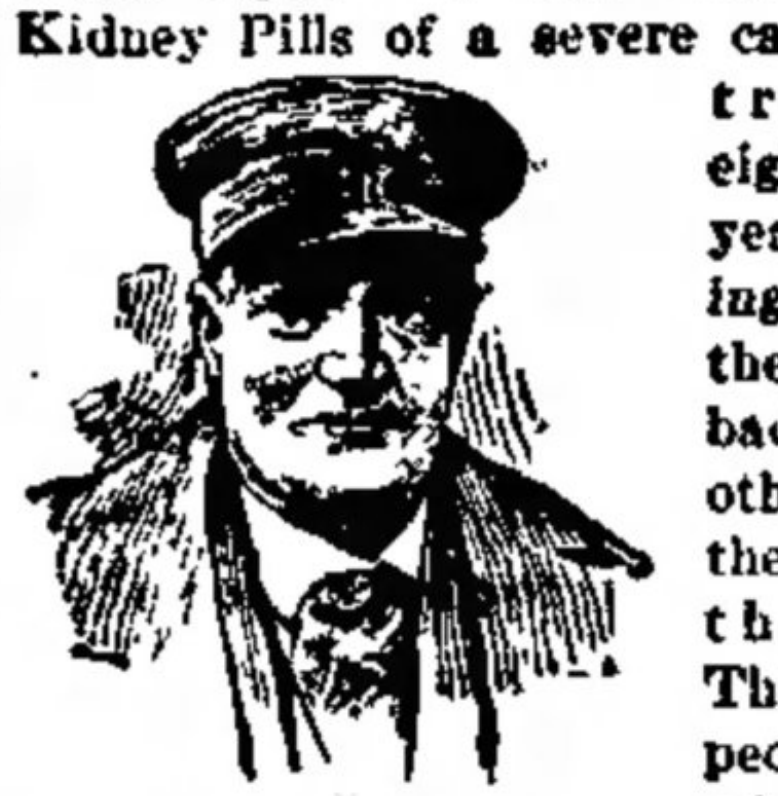
AN OLD MAN'S TRIBUTE.

An Ohio Fruit Raiser, 78 Years Old, Cured of a Terrible Case After Ten Years of Suffering.

When suffering daily torture
From backache, rheumatic pain,
Any ill of kidneys or bladder,
Turn to Doan's Kidney Pills.
A cure endorsed by thousands.
Read an old man's tribute.

Sidney Justus, fruit dealer, of Mentor, Ohio, says: "I was cured by Doan's Kidney Pills of a severe case of kidney trouble of eight or ten years' standing. I suffered the most severe backache and other pains in the region of the kidneys. These were especially severe when stooping to lift anything, and often I could hardly straighten my back. The aching was bad in the daytime, but just as bad at night, and I was always lame in the morning. I was bothered with rheumatic pains and dropsical swelling of the feet. The urinary passages were painful, and the secretions were discolored and so free that often I had to rise at night. I felt tired all day. Half a box served to relieve me, and three boxes effected a permanent cure."



SIDNEY JUSTUS.

A FREE TRIAL of this great kidney medicine which cured Mr. Justus will be mailed on application to any part of the United States. Address Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y. Sold by all dealers; price, fifty cents per box.

One would think the Laxative idea in a cough syrup should have been advanced long before it was. It seems the only rational remedy for Coughs and Colds would be to move the bowels and clean the mucous membranes of the throat and lungs at the same time. Kennedy's Laxative Honey and Tar does this. It is the Origanal Laxative Coughs, Colds, Croup, Whooping Cough, etc. Tastes good and is harmless.—Sold by R. W. Beck.

The tar that is contained in Bee's Laxative Honey and Tar is harmless. It is not coal tar, but is obtained from the pine trees of our own native forests. Bee's Laxative Honey and Tar is the best remedy for colds because it acts on the bowels--thus expelling all colds from the system. Bee's is the origanal Laxative Honey and Tar, and is best for coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough, lung and bronchial effections. Sold by C. A. Light.

Don't frown—look pleasant. If you are suffering from indigestion or sour stomach, take Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. Hon. Jake Moore, of Atlanta, Ga., says: "I suffered more than 20 years with indigestion. A friend recommended Kodol. It relieved me in one day and I now enjoy better health than for many years." Kodol digests what you eat, relieves sour stomach, gas on stomach, belching, etc.—Sold by R. W. Beck.

A liquid cold cure for children that is pleasant, harmless and effective is Bee's Laxative Honey and Tar. Superior to all other cough syrups or cold remedies because it acts on the bowels. An ideal remedy for Coughs, Colds, Croup, Whooping Cough and all curable lung and bronchial effections in child or adult. Pleasant to take. Sold by C. A. Light.

If you are troubled with Piles and can't find a cure, try Witch Hazel Salve, but be sure you get that made by E. C. De Witt & Co., Chicago. It is the Origanal. If you have used Witch Hazel Salve without being relieved it is probable that you got hold of one of the many worthless counterfeits that are sold on the reputation of the genuine De Witt's Witch Hazel Salve.—Sold by R. W. Beck.

The gums and resins obtained from pine trees have long been recognized as highly beneficial in the treatment of backache, kidney and bladder troubles. Pine-ules is the name of a new medicine, the principle ingredients of which come from the pine forests of our own native land. Sold by C. A. Light.

Mothers everywhere praise One Minute Cough Cure for the sufferings it has relieved and the lives of their little ones it has saved. A certain cure for coughs, croup and whooping cough. Makes breathing easy, cuts out phlegm, and draws out the inflammation. It should be kept on hand for immediate use.—Sold by R. W. Beck.

It is not difficult to relieve blind bleeding, itching or protruding piles with ManZan, the great pile remedy. It is put up in collapsible tubes with nozzle, and may be introduced and applied at the seat of the trouble. Stops pain instantly. Sold by C. A. Light.

Indigestion is much of a hapit. Don't get the habit. Take a little Kodol Dyspepsia Cure after eating and you will quit belching, puffing, palpitating and frowning. Kodol Digests what you eat and makes the stomach sweet.—Sold by R. W. Beck.

For bloating, belching, indigestion, etc., eat a Ring's Dyspepsia Tablet after meals. Sold by C. A. Light.

The best safeguard against headache, constipation and liver troubles is De Witt's Little Early Risers. Keep a vial of these famous little pills in the house and take a dose at bedtime when you feel that the stomach and bowels need cleansing. They don't gripe.—Sold by R. W. Beck.

Salve! Salve! Spread the Salve, but let it be Pine Salve, natures remedy for cuts, burns, sores, etc. Sold by C. A. Light.

Diphtheria, sore throat croup. Instant relief, permanent cure. Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. At any drugstore.

For headache, constipation, etc., Dade's Little Liver Pills are the best. They cleanse and tonic the liver. Sold by C. A. Light.

LETTER FROM SAN FRANCISCO

Miss Kathryn Smith Received a Letter from Friend in Stricken City. Reproduced in Part.

San Jose, California,
April 24, 1906.

My dear Friend:

Your letter came this morning and found us all safe, but still feeling a little shaky. I'll begin at the beginning and tell you a little of what has happened. It was about twelve minutes after five that I was aroused by a slight tremor of the earthquake. I thought nothing of it. The shuddering sensation soon changed to violent plunging jolts. It was as if the house was a rat being shaken by a big dog. All of the furniture in the room came galloping straight towards the middle of the room and pictures and bric-a-brac flew in every direction.

Down stairs everything was topsy turvy. Even the safe had been moved a foot from the wall The kitchen floor was a mixture of stove pipe, soot, water, milk, dishes, etc. We were looking around at all this, when another little shake occurred and sent us flying to the street. It then dawned upon us that we had better dress. By that time we began to bear awful reports from down town. I won't stop to tell you about this building and that one, but can say in general that scarcely a building was left unharmed and many were flat to the ground. Words can't describe the confusion and awfulness of the scene.

At first we thought our house was a complete wreck, but after seeing other places, we were thankful we had walls left to plaster. In the afternoon we drove around to see how the rest of the people fared.

Half of the people sleep out of doors. Four-fifths of the city has been swept away by fire including all of those magnificient buildings. Wednesday night we could hear the dull thud of the dynamiting all night. Standford is wrecked and that grand Memorial church is ruined.

I guess there is no danger now. Hundreds of people are coming in from the city, but they are being fed and well cared for by the relief committee. They seem well organized.

Most people seem very hopeful of the future. It is pretty hard now, but in the end, I believe San Jose, Frisco and all other demolished places will be better and more beautiful than before. The resources are still here and the people seem to have the will. With Love.

BESS CURRY.

DESCRIBES ACCIDENT.

Assistant Superintendent Henderson of the Ry. Co. Gives Account of Wednesday Night's Accident.

When seen today regarding the accident in which two men narrowly escaped loosing their lives by being run over by a car on the W. M. B. V. and F. Cy. St. Ry., Assistant superintendent Henderson who was on the car when the accident happened said: "We got word about 9:30 at the car barns that car 102 was off the rails at 14th street, Monessen. We at once got No 101. ready and started for Monessen accompanied by a number of workmen. Superintendent Callahan was acting as motorman. We were running very carefully at the time the accident occured and this coupled with the fact the seven inch rails were used at this point and the bed not being filled with ballast was all that prevented the men from being ground to pieces.

The men who had been drinking had gotten into an argument as a result and were pummeling each other in the center of the track when found. Their injuries are not likely to prove serious."

Will Remove Offices.

Dr. N. G. Seely who for the past six months has been operating the Philadelphia dental parlors of this place has decided to disband here and remove his business to his home office in Connelsville. The doctor has been a practitioner in Connelsville for several years and his trade at that place takes so much of his time that it is impossible for him to give both offices personal supervision, hence the decision. All persons having had dental work done at the office here will be treated at the Connelsville office and should the work justify car fare will be paid to and from his office. The same guarantee stands for all work that has been done and should any work not prove satisfactory just drop a card to the docter at Connelsville and he will promptly advise.

Two New Members.

At Wednesday afternoon's meeting of the Holly club two new members were taken into the ranks, Mrs. G. C. Deitil and Mrs. McCabe, mother of H. Dallas McCabe. The club still continues to grow and promises to do some excellent work during the coming season.

Church Raise Funds

The St. Paul's Lutheran Church made another good sized payment on the church lots today in addition to the semi annual interest. Eighteen months ago the property was bought at a cost of $2600, they now owe only $900 interest bearing debt. The congregation numbers 76 souls.

Is Getting Better

Word was received from the McKeesport Hospital today that Phillip Snyder of this place who was taken there recently, suffering from a dislocated hip was recovering rapidly. Snyder who was employed as tinner for the C. S. Pore Hardware Co. was injured by falling from a porch roof.
